

Discover Segovia, find the Treasure

In the 1st Century, the Romans lived in Segovia and they built the Aqueduct, but they also hid a treasure that we have not yet found.

You just have to walk around the city and you will receive a reward if you come to the Tourism Office as you finish these questions.

Good luck!

1.- As you leave the Tourism office, you will find a huge monument on the left, the Aqueduct. Do you know for what purpose and when (in which century) it was built? Maybe you will find more information on the city map we gave to your parents.

Do you know which of these characters built it?

2.- Walking up Cervantes Street you will pass by the House of Peaks (Casa de los Picos) and a bit further to the left, there is a small square called Platero Oquendo. Find the writing on the corner and fill in the gaps:

Prohibido aparcar.....bajo multa de.....

Have you seen the facade of this house? There are many houses in Segovia with this kind of decoration.

Would you know the name of it?

This decoration is called.....

3.- Before arriving to the Main Square (Plaza Mayor), you will find the Corpus Square. On the left, a door leads to the old synagogue of the Jewish community that lived in Segovia. Could you tell us for what purpose is this building used nowadays?

4.- Keep going up the main street until you get the Plaza Mayor. In front of you, you can see the Cathedral. Watch carefully the picture and draw what is missing.

It is missing.....

5.- Keep going down the street next to the Cathedral, 5 minutes later you will find a garden in front of the Alcázar. On the right side, out of the city walls, you will see some monuments. You can look for some help in the city map in order to find the name of this church in particular.
